Figma - Community

The screenshot shows the Figma Community interface. On the left, there's a sidebar with a profile picture for 'Francisco Gutierrez', a lock icon, and navigation links for 'Search', 'Recent', 'Community' (which is highlighted with a green 'Beta' badge), 'Drafts', and '+ Create new team'. Below these are links for 'Upgrade to collaborate with more teammates' and 'Your teams and favorite projects will appear here'. A 'Create new team' button is also present.

The main content area has a header 'Explore files and plugins made just for Figma' with a sub-instruction 'Explore, install, use, and remix thousands of files and plugins'. Below this are several category buttons: 'Explore', 'Feed' (which is selected and highlighted in blue), 'Design systems', 'Wireframes', 'Illustrations', 'Icons', 'Typography', 'Mobile design', 'Web design', and 'UI kits'.

Below the categories, there are tabs for 'Files' and 'Plugins'. A section titled 'Keep up with your favorite creators' displays circular avatars of users and a cat, with a button labeled 'Explore creators'.

At the bottom, there's a section titled 'EXPLORE' with a heading 'Trending and noteworthy'. It features three playground cards: 'Scroll to Playground' (designed to teach scroll interactions), 'Welcome to Auto Layout!' (designed to get you up to speed on Auto Layout), and '960 buttons variations' (showcasing various button designs).

I found myself frequently trying to locate many misplaced common iOS/iPadOS system-level interface elements, so decided to build and collect them all in one place.

A screenshot of the "Inputs" component section from the Figma file. It shows various input types: "Regular", "With Floating Label", "Success Input", and "Error Input". Below these are sections for "Checkboxes", "Radio Buttons", "Toggle Buttons", and "Sliders". Each section displays different states such as "Checked", "Disabled", and "Error".

Two screenshots from the Figma file. The top one shows a "Sign Up" form with fields for First Name, Email, and Password, set against a city skyline background. The bottom one shows a user profile card for "Christian Louboutin" with a photo, bio, and social media links.
